Meet Dan Nuckols! Dan, a homeschool graduate, has been cartooning since the age of five. His work has been published in several different places, including The Washington Post. In 2004 he created a 16-lesson series on cartooning from a Christian perspective so he could share his love of cartooning with others. He now offers these lessons through Cartooning Camps across America. If you have a child who loves to doodle, these camps provide a great opportunity for your child to hone those skills and to learn how to create fun and engaging cartoons.

Dan has shared his talent of drawing caricatures on mission trips to Guatemala and Mexico, as well as local county fairs. His incisive wit and instructive hands-on art lessons will challenge your child to see the world in a unique and humorous light, and help them excel in their art. It is Dan's vision to help students see how they can use this powerful creative tool to communicate God's message of hope and truth to the world.

Dan is a graduate of Northwestern College and holds a BA in Biblical Studies with a minor in Graphic Design. He has worked in a corporate art department and currently does freelance graphic artwork. Dan's latest creative endeavors have been in the world of Christian film making. He produced and directed his first film, "Living Word" in 2017. His second film "Oh Aching Soul" is set to be released later this year. View his films at www.NicolFilms.com.
