

Homeschool Teen Serve – 2019-20

Homeschool Teen Serve (HTS) is an organization for teens who join together monthly to serve local communities in response to Jesus' challenge, "...he that is greatest among you shall be your servant." (Matthew 23:11) If you're interested in registering your teen in one of the seven area chapters of HTS during the 2019-20 school year, then you still have the opportunity to attend an informational parent meeting this summer.

In order to participate in HTS, at least one parent from each participating family must attend one of the remaining meetings. At the meeting, you will receive a 2019-20 handbook and registration forms, as well have the opportunity to ask any questions you might have about HTS. For information on times and locations for the meetings listed below, contact the director at the chapter's email address.

Parents may register students for any chapter at any of these meetings.

It is the goal of HTS students, all of whom are homeschooled, to join together a minimum of once monthly to serve individuals in our community in practical, tangible ways, while building friendships with those they serve and with other teens. It is our hope that, during these monthly projects, our teens will not only assist individuals in completing a practical work project, but that they will also experience the joy that comes from serving others.
